Pass

After South's jump rebid of three spades, North knew that big things were brewing for the partnership. When the responder's holding contains all the essentials of an opening bid, and partner has opened and then jumped the responder should be alerted to the nearness of a slam. His invitation took the form of a leap to five spades-an overbid of the game. South cheerfully proceeded to six. West opened his singleton club and the ace was played from the dummy. North's shortness in both hearts and diamonds was a welcome sight to declarer, for it gave him the opportunity to ruff out all three of his red suit losers. However. South had to exercise considerable care in order to avoid an overruff.

At trick two he led a heart to his ace and then he cashed the king, discarding a small diamond from the dummy. The ten of hearts was ruffed with the three of spades, and the queen of diamonds was played next. South put up the ace and returned the three of diamonds. He was careful in trumping this time, to use North's king of spades, rather than the eight. This was a safety play designed to prevent an opponent from overruffing with the queen of spades and then returning a trump before declarer's washing was completed.

A club was now led from the dummy and South trumped with the ace of spades for the same reason that he had employed North's king previously. The jack of diamonds was ruffed with the eight of spades and, though East was able to overruff with the queen, declarer could claim the balance with high trumps.

Observe that, if South ruffs the three of diamonds with the eight of spades, he can be defeated by the overruff and trump return. The seven-one division in diamonds is highly unexpected to be sure, but the concession of a possible overtrick is certainly a cheap enough price to pay for assurance of the contract.

At Hollywood BY HEDDA HOPPER

(1762: By the Chicago Tribune)

HOLLYWOOD - Katharne Hepburn got an Oscar early in her career for "Morning Glory" and might make it a pair this year for her magnificent performance in "Long Day's Journey nto Night." When they called it a Long Day's Journey," they were ot kidding. It's pure Eugene Neill, photographed just as it was done on stage, and therein lies its fault as a motion picture. But the acting is something else again. Every young player who ants to improve should see this one, not only to study Hepburn Dean Stockwell, Robards and Sir Ralph Richardson as well.

The Beaulieu sur Mer location for "King of the Mountain," which will have David Niven and Marlon Brando playing a couple of prize crooks, is a five - minute walk from Niven's home on the Riviera. In a note from Europe, David says his wife Hjordis, who was laid up for months mending a leg she splintered in a skiing eccident, is looking forward to getting back on the ski slopes after the first of the year.

Niven's 19 year old son had a narrow one. When he complained of pains in his side, papa decided he'd pulled a muscle fencing and had him soak in a hot tub; then Hjordis got in the act and put him thru some Swedish exercises. Someone finally had the good sense to call a doctor, and an hour later junior had his appendix removed.

They asked me to follow thru since I was a guest there many times and knew stories about the place that perhaps Bill didn't. I sure do and am delighted to oblique.

There are more celebrities in the audience of the El Capitan theater where Peggy Webber is playing "Peter Pan" than there are in most movies. Everyone from Dennis Weaver to Jimmy Stewart has taken his kids to see the show, which will be an annual Santa event.

The toy industry is in for a good ribbing in "The Smashmasters," a comedy involving top level spies in that business, which Michael Gordon will produce and direct. He's out to get Fred MacMurray and Shirley MacLaine as his undercover agents.

Janet Leigh and her husband. Bob Brandt, take the kids to Aspen, Cole, for the olidays. A schoolmate of Janet's told me an ronic story about the star's first marriage. During her senior year in high school in Merced, Cal. she eloped with Kenneth Carlyle, whose family, by small town standards, was quite well to do. When they found out about the wedding, they figured Janet was 'ir Kenneth's money and had it annulled. She's now wealthy enough to buy her home town. Janet's friend remembers what a beautiful voice she had and how she used to wing "Whispering Hope.

Now that comedy record albums are runaway best sellers, Red Skelton is busy making a series of them. The titles alone should make them hits: "How the West Was Lost," by Deadeye: "Drinking Songs," by Willie Lump Lump; "Election Songs," by Can Fernando Red, and "Folk Songs," by Clem Kadiddlehopper. Art Linkletter says he's never grown a geranium in a pot, but acquiring 'and and making it producti e giros him a personal thrill He has joined a group to buy a 675,000 acre ranch in Australia and cued me in on some fascinating statistics: "America Imports a billion tons of beef annually - the more prosperous the nation, the more beef it eats." He said he had spent the 40 million lire digging over the past five years in partly explored Etruscan ruin regions around Tarquinia, Ceverteri and Piombino,

IN MEMORIAM

In Joving memory of our dear one Ronald F. Blackwell, who passed away three years ago today. Sep December 19, 1959.

We can not forget him, we love him too dearly. His memory won't fade from our lives like a dream. Our lips need not speak when our hearts mourn sincerely. For grief often dwells where it seldom is seen.

So sadly missed by Mom, Dad., Sisters and Grandmothers.
